

Local Missions Ideas for Men

Missions is a vital area of ministry where men are always called to serve. While many mission projects are global in nature, there is a great need to use resources, and especially manpower, locally to share the loving light of Christ. While global missions offer us the opportunity to give so others may serve, local missions give men a chance to actively participate in hands on ministry where they can see the benefits of their labors and look into the eyes of those they serve to see Christ in their midst. Local missions also offer opportunities for men to bond as a group around service to neighbors.

There are many ways your group can participate locally in missions including:

- Perform home maintenance/repairs for elderly church members
- Make repairs to church building and provide maintenance work on church grounds
